Pichon Lalande 2016: Quality score vs ex-négociant price per bottle (€)

The 2016 Quality score is just a fraction behind that of 2015, and otherwise the highest since 1982. This is reflected in the ambitious ex-négociant release price, the highest since 2010.

“The most complete since the acquisition by Roederer, and a complex and noble expression of the Pauillac terroir [...].”

“Blackish crimson. Sweet start and much less obvious density than some, very Merlot and just a little soft. Super-supple certainly... But where's the beef?”
