Grand-Puy-Lacoste 2017: Quality score vs average market price (£)

Grand-Puy-Lacoste made an excellent 2017, with a Quality score (and release price) in between 2009 and 2010. It is a perennial favourite of the UK wine trade, but is a less obvious en primeur buy than usual, priced below the 2016, but above the 2015 and 2014.

“A huge success, fine and delicate, fresh without any greenness, and above all with a length worthy of first or second growths from this appellation. A personal favourite.”

“It has a clean, precise and conservative bouquet that takes time to open [...]. It is a quintessential Grand Puy Lacoste.”

“Silky tannins add to the wine's elegant, coolly sophisticated personality.”
